

Teaching Staff

International experience is not only one of the mainstays in the academic career of a lecturer; it also provides fertile ground for the growth and development the university itself. That is why the Universidad de Granada offers and provides a range of related services for its teaching staff and for lecturers coming from international institutions.

If you are interested in participating in an international activity, select your profile:

- UGR lecturer
- International lecturer