CAPITAL UNIVERSITY OF ECONOMICS AND BUSINESS

Introduction

The Capital University of Economics and Business (CUEB) was founded in 1956 and established as a key university of the Beijing Municipality. CUEB has six disciplines: economics, management, law, literature, science, and engineering, with an emphasis on the strong points of economics and management. The disciplines are interrelated and collaborated with each other. CUEB is developing into a modern and multi-disciplines economic university.

CUEB has two campuses. The main campus is located in Fengtai District, the Hongmiao Campus is located in Chaoyang District. The two campuses combined comprise a total area of 480,000 square meters and a total construction area of 365,000 square meters. The library has a collection of more than 1.2 million books and over 2,600 periodicals in Chinese and foreign languages.

The university offers 35 bachelor programs. The University grants doctoral degrees in Applied Economics with a top-tier discipline supported by a post-doctoral research center. In addition, there are 11 doctoral degree programs with second-tier disciplines, and 30 top-tier discipline masters programs. CUEB has schools of Urban Development, Business Administration, Economics, Accounting, Labor Economics, Humanities, Information, Safety and Environmental Engineering, Public Finance & Taxation, Law, Finance, Statistics, and Continuing Education; the Department of Foreign Languages, Overseas Chinese College, Department of Physical Education, School of International Education; and Professional Masters Office.

Of over 21,000 students enrolled at CUEB, 10,000 are undergraduates, over 400 are associates degree students, more than 2,000 are graduate students, more than 700 are international students, and more than 7,800 are continuing education students. CUEB has a strong, highly-credentialed faculty and research team. There are 1,625 faculty and staff members, including 712 instructors. CUEB faculty have a great number of provincial, ministry-level and national research projects in Beijing.

The university has cooperative relations with over 50 universities, research institutions, and social organizations abroad. The university pays great attention on the programs to international students. Since 1986, our university has been recruiting international students and offering Chinese language course programs as well as economics-related courses. Currently, 900 international students enrolled in long-term and short-term sessions. Our university constantly strives to improve instructional quality and management to enrich students' experiences in order to sustain a comprehensive, standardized, yet unique curriculum that caters to the different needs of international students. For example, we offer language courses in economics and business for international undergraduate students. Meanwhile, we provide elective courses in Chinese Calligraphy, Chinese Dance and Chinese Martial Arts. International Economics and trade major, master program (taught in English) and Ph.D. program are all available to the foreign students.
