Innovative Teaching for Environmental Sustainability and Community Values across Food Systems, Architecture and Landscapes (FOODCITY)

Tipo de proyecto: KA2 Cooperation Partnership

Fechas: 01/10/2026 30/09/2029

Coordinación: Universidad de Granada (España)

Socios:

University of Florence (Italia)
Iscte University Institute of Lisbon (Portugal)

Descripción:

"FoodCity" modernizes architectural education by integrating food systems into spatial design. We transform research into teaching innovation to fight climate change via metabolic urbanism. By tackling local Spaces of Opportunity through the lens of food, we foster common values and civic engagement. Our goal is an interconnected Mediterranean Higher Education system that equips future architects and planners with green skills to design resilient, sustainable, and socially equitable cities.
